

Chester Cycle 1572/2010*Play 5*The Sacrifice of Isaac; Moses and the Law

Cast: GOD, ABRAHAM, ISAAC, ANGEL, MESSENGER, MOSES, EXPOSITOR

GOD Abraham, my servant Abraham!

ABRAHAM Lo, Lord, all ready here I am.

GOD Take Isaac, thy son by name, that thou lovest the best of all,
5 and in sacrifice offer him to me upon that hill there beside thee.
Abraham, I will that it so be,
for ought that may befall.

ABRAHAM My Lord, to thee is mine intent 10 ever to be obedient.
That son that thou to me has sent offer I will to thee, and fulfill thy commandment with heartfelt will as I am kent 15 high God, Lord omnipotent.
Thy bidding, Lord, done shall be.

taught

My household and my children each one remain at home, both all and one, save Isaac. My son with me shall go 20 to a hill here beside.

Here Abraham, turning to his son Isaac, saith:

Make thee ready, my dear darling,
for we must do a little thing.
This wood do thou on thy back bring;
we may no longer bide.

25 A sword and fire that will I take, for the sacrifice I have to make God's bidding will I not forsake, but ever obedient be.

Abraham taketh a sword and fire.

Here Isaac speaks to his father, taketh the bundle of sticks, and beareth after his father.

ISAAC Father, I am all ready 30 to do your bidding most meekly, and to bear this wood obedient am I,
as ye command me.

ABRAHAM O Isaac, Isaac, my darling dear,
my blessing now I give thee here.
35 Take up this faggot with good cheer and on thy back it bring.
And fire with us I will take.

ISAAC Your bidding I will not forsake;

40 father, I will never slake to fulfill your bidding. cease

ABRAHAM Now Isaac, son, go we our way to yonder mount, if that we may.

Here they go both to the place to do sacrifice.

ISAAC My dear father, I will assay to gladly follow if I may. try

Abraham being minded to slay his son, lifts up his hands to heaven and saith:

ABRAHAM O, my heart will break in three!
46 hearing thy words I have pity.
As thou wilt, Lord, so must it be;
to thee will I be obedient.

Lay down thy faggot, my own son dear.

Isaac layeth down the wood and goeth to his father and saith:

ISAAC All ready, father – lo, it is here!
51 But why make ye so heavy cheer?
Are you of anything in dread?
Father, if it be your will,
Where is the beast that we shall kill?

ABRAHAM None such, son, is on this hill
56 that I see here in this stead place

Isaac, fearing lest his father will slay him, saith:

ISAAC Father, I am full sore afraid to see you bear that drawn sword.
60 I hope for all the world
you will not slay your child.

Abraham, comforting his son, saith:

ABRAHAM Dread thee not, my child, I say
Our Lord will send from his Godhead some manner of beast to come this way either tame or wild.

ISAAC Father tell me before I go 66 Whether I shall have harm or no.

ABRAHAM Ah, dear God, I am full of woe
Thou breakest my heart in sunder.

ISAAC Father, tell me of this case 70 why you your sword drawn has and bear it naked in this place.
At that I have great wonder. about this situation

ABRAHAM Isaac, son, peace, I pray thee!
Thou break'st my heart at once in three.

ISAAC I pray you, father, conceal nothing from me, 76 but tell me what you think.

- ABRAHAM Ah, Isaac, Isaac, I must thee kill.
- ISAAC Alas, father, is that your will?
Your own child for to spill 80 upon this hill's brink? destroy
- If that I have done wrong in any degree, with a stick you may beat me.
Put up your sword, if your will it be,
for I am but a child.
- ABRAHAM Oh, my dear son, I am sorry 86 to do thee this great annoy. harm
God's commandment do must I;
his works are always most mild, merciful
- ISAAC Would God my mother were here with me!
90 She would kneel down upon her knee, praying you, father, if it might be,
for to save my life.
- ABRAHAM Oh fair creature unless I thee kill 95 I grieve God and that full ill . most sorely I may not act against his will
but ever obedient be.
O, Isaac, son, to thee I say God has commanded today sacrifice – this I can't deny – 100 to make of thy body.
- ISAAC Is it God's will I shall be slain?
- ABRAHAM Yea, son, to lie is no gain; 105 to his bidding I will be obedient trying ever to him to be pleasing.
Unless I do this doleful deed
My Lord will not repay me my meed reward
- ISAAC Marry, father, God forbid other than you make your offering.
- 110 Father, at home your sons you shall find that you must love by force of kind. nature
Be I once out of your mind;
your sorrow may soon cease.
But yet you must do God's bidding.
Father – tell my mother nothing.
- Here Abraham wringing his hands, saith:*
- ABRAHAM For sorrow I may my hand wring;
116 thy mother I cannot please.
- Oh Isaac, Isaac, blessed may thou be!
Almost my wit I lose for thee.
The blood of thy body so free 120 I am full loath to shed. beautiful
- Here Isaac, asking his father's blessing on his knees, saith:*
- ISAAC Father, since you must needs do so,
let it pass quickly and away go.

As I kneel on my knees two,
your blessing on me spread.

ABRAHAM
126 My blessing, dear son, give I thee, and thy mother's with heart so free. willing
The blessing of the Trinity, my dear son, on thee light.

ISAAC
130 Father, I pray you hide my een that I see not the sword so keen. eyes
Your stroke, father would I not see Lest against it I complain.

ABRAHAM
My dear son, Isaac, speak no more;
thy words make my heart full sore.

ISAAC
136 Oh dear father, wherefore, wherefore, since I must needs be dead?
Of one thing I would you pray,
since I must die the death today:
as few strokes as ye well may possibly can 140 when you smite off my head!

ABRAHAM
Thy meekness, child, makes me afraid.
My song may be 'Alas, away.'

ISAAC
145 Oh, dear father, do away, do away your making of so much moan.
Now truly, father, this talking doth but make long tarrying.
I pray you, be quick and make ending and let me hence be gone.

ABRAHAM
150 Come hither, my child, thou art so sweet!
Thou must be bound both hand and feet.

Here Isaac riseth and cometh to his father, and he taketh and bindeth him.

ISAAC
155 Father, we may no more meet by ought that I can see.
But do to me as thou will;
I must obey, and that is skill, right
God's commandment to fulfill, for needs so must it be.

160 Upon the purpose that you have set you, truly, father, I will not hinder you;
but evermore to you bow
while that ever I may.
Father, greet well my brethren young,
and pray my mother for her blessing;
I may come no more under her wing.
Farewell, for ever and ay.

165 But father, I cry you mercy for all that ever I have trespassed to thee, forgiven, father, so that it may be until Doomsday.

ABRAHAM
170 My dear son, let be thy moans;
my child, thou grieves me more than once.
Blessed be thou, body and bones,

and I forgive thee here.
 Now, my dear son, here shalt thou lie.
 Unto my task now must I hie.
 175 I had rather myself to die as thou, my darling dear.

ISAAC            Father, if ye be to me kind about my head a kerchief bind;
 and let me pass easily from your mind;
 180 and let it be soon that I am sped!

ABRAHAM       Farewell, my sweet son of grace.

Here kiss him, and bind the kerchief about his head; and let him [Isaac] kneel down and speak.

ISAAC           I pray you, father turn down my face a little while, while you have space, for I am sore adread.

ABRAHAM       To do this deed I am sorry.

ISAAC           Yea, Lord, to thee I call and cry!
 187 On my soul thou have mercy, heartily I thee pray.

ABRAHAM       Lord, I would fain work thy will.
 190 This young innocent that lies so still full loath am I him to kill by any manner of way.

ISAAC           My dear father, I thee pray,
 let me take my clothes away, 195 to spare           shedding blood on them today at my last ending.

ABRAHAM       Heart, if thou would break in three,
 thou shall never master me!
 I will no longer delay for thee;
 200 my God I may not grieve.

ISAAC           Ah, mercy, father! Why tarry ye so?
 Smite off my head, and let me go.
 I pray you rid me of my woe,
 for now I take my leave.

ABRAHAM       My son, my heart will break in three 206 To hear thee speak such words to me.
 Jesu, on me thou have pity, that I have most in mind.

ISAAC           Now, father, I see that I shall die.
 210 Almighty God in majesty, my soul I offer unto thee.
 Lord, to it be kind.

Here let Abraham take and bind his son Isaac upon the altar, and let him make a sign as though he would cut off his head with a sword. Then let the Angel come, and take the sword by the end and stay it saying:

ANGEL           Abraham, my servant dear!

ABRAHAM       Lo, Lord, I am all ready here.

- ANGEL
216 Lay not thy sword in any manner on Isaac, thy dear darling, and do to him no more annoy. harm
That thou dreads't God, well know I since upon thy son thou hast no mercy 220 in order to fulfill his bidding.
- And, because his bidding thou dost ay, and sparest neither for fear nor fray to do thy son to death today – dread
Isaac, to thee full dear – 225 therefore God hath sent by me truly a lamb that is both good and gay, into this place, as thou see may.
Lo, find him right here.
- ABRAHAM
230 Ah, Lord of Heaven and king of bliss, thy bidding shall be done iwiss.
Sacrifice here me sent is,
and all, Lord, through thy grace.
An horned wether here I see Among the briars tied is he.
235 To thee offered now shall he be immediately in this place.
- Then let Abraham take the lamb and kill him; and let God say:*
- GOD
Abraham, by myself I swear:
for thou hast been obedient ever,
and spared not thy son to tear 240 to fulfill my bidding, thou shall be blessed that pleased me.
Thy seed I shall so multiply as stars and sand, so many promised I,
of thy body coming.
- 245 Over enemies thou shalt have power,
and thy kin also together.
Thou hast been meek and bonere agreeable to do as I thee bede. command
And of all nations, believe thou me, 250 blessed evermore you shall be through fruit that shall come of thee, and saved be through thy seed.
- Here the Expositor saith:*
- EXPOSITOR
255 Lordings, the signification of this deed of devotion – if you wish, know you can – may turn you much to good.
This deed ye see done in here in this place, in example of Jesus done it was,
that for to win Mankind grace 260 was sacrificed on the rood.
- By Abraham I may understand the Father of Heaven a way found with his Son's blood to break that bond the Devil had brought us to.

265 By Isaac understand I may Jesus that was obedient alway his Father's will to work alway, and death to undergo

[Here Moses shall enter]

GOD
 270 Moses, my servant true and dear, and all my people that are here, ye know in Egypt when ye were out of slavery I you brought.
 I will have no God but me;
 no false gods none make ye, 275 for that liketh me nought.

I will you hold your holy day and honour it also alway, honour father and mother all that you may,
 and slay no man nowhere.
 280 Fornication ye shall flee. shun
 No men's goods steal ye, nor in no place stay nor be false witness for to bear.

Your neighbour's wife desire you nought, 285 servant, nor goods that he hath bought, ox nor ass, in deed nor thought, nor nothing that is his,
 nor long wrongfully to have his things against his desire and his liking.
 290 In all these matters keep my bidding, that ye do not amiss.

MOSES
 Good Lord that art ever so good,
 I will fulfill with mild mood humble heart thy commandments, for I stood 295 to hear thee now full still.
 Forty days now fasted have I,
 that I might be the more worthy to understand this sign truly.
 Now will I work thy will.

Then Moses on the mountain shall speak to the people.

300 Good folk, dread ye nought.
 To test you God hath this wrought.
 Take these words in your thought;
 now you know what makes a sin.
 By this sight now ye may see 305 that God is unrivalled in posty. power
 Therefore these acts shun do ye salvation for to win.

EXPOSITOR
 Lordings, this commandment was the first law ever God sent; 310 ten points there be – that takes intent – that most importance is in.
 But that story, though it be strong,
 to play this month it were too long!
 Therefore most fruitful ever among 315 shortly we shall min. recall

Afterwards we read in this story that in this Mount of Sinai God gave the law certainly written with his hand 320 in stony tables, as read I, before men turned to idolatry –
 Moses broke them hastily Idolatry he could not stand.

 But later, played as ye shall see, 325 other tables carved out he, which God bade inscribed should be with the words he said before.
 These tables enshrined were afterwards as God will teach here; 330 and that shrine to him as dear thereafter evermore.

Here God appeareth again to Moses

GOD Moses, my servant, go anon and carve out of the rock of stone tables to write my bidding upon, 335 such as thou had before.
 And in the morning look thou hie into the Mount of Sinai. hasten Let no man know but thou only, with company no more.

MOSES Lord, thy bidding shall be done
 341 and tables carved out full soon.
 But tell me – I ask thee this boon – what words I shall write.

GOD Thou shalt write the same lore teaching 345 that in the tables was before.
 It shall be kept for evermore, for that is my delight.

The Moses shall make a sign as if he were carving out the tables from the mountain and, writing upon them, shall say to the people:

MOSES God's folk of Israel, harken you all to my spell. words 350 God bade ye should keep well this that I shall say.
 Six days, bodily, work all;
 the seventh 'Sabbath' ye shall call.
 That day, for ought that may befall, 355 kept holy always shall be.

Who doth not this, die shall he.
 In houses fire shall no man see.
 First-fruits to God offer ye – for so himself bede – commands 360 purple and silk both two to him that shall save you from woe and help you in your need.

Then he shall come down from the mount.
